SEXY SECRETS FINALLY REVEALED

After over a decade of research and development, Kelvin Shaw, Director of Sexy Floors Australia is finally revealing the secret formula to the success of his million dollar flooring business.

Due to the unprecedented popularity and demand for Sexy Floors, Kelvin has had no choice but to divulge this secret formula. The product used, epoxy, is a liquid resin applied directly to any concrete surface. With an exclusive composition, Sexy Floors colour and texture your floor to give it character and becomes a focal talking point; rather than being a 'surface you walk on'.

The formula and application method is so secret and so refined, it's just not given out to anyone. Kelvin's passing on this decade of hard work and knowledge to flooring professionals, some of which are even his own direct competitors.

Kelvin, a flooring designer pioneer, is struggling to keep up with demand due to the unique nature of his products. This is especially so with his world first aluminium, bronze and copper floors. However, with the first offer release of their Australia wide Master and Individual Franchises, it will become a lot easier to keep up with demand.

Sexy Floors are popping up all over the place. From top corporate business offices such as Sunland Constructions, Gadens Lawyers - to chic showrooms such as Mitchell Ogilvie Menswear and Bundaberg Brewed Drinks Tourism Centre. Sexy Floors have also laid floors in many domestic properties ranging from apartments to multi million dollar properties of well known personalities.

If it's a concrete floor, it can be transformed into a Sexy Floor; and if it's not a Sexy Floor, it's not a designer epoxy original. Kelvin Shaw is commissioned to repair major flooring works Australia wide.

This alone demonstrates the commercial durability of his developed products. However, it's Kelvin's creativity combined with both his wife's unique perspective and favourable customer feedback that makes it sexy. See 'sexy' for yourself. www.aaasexyfloors.com.au
